Ultra Pro Wrestling – 03/26/2010

Dark match result: At the end of a drawn out and intense battle, Irwin R. Schyster was victorious over Ron Killings after delivering a Write-Off in the center of a makeshift wrestling ring. The trailer court was left devastated as I.R.S. imposed federal martial law and demanded that residents pay backed taxes on the spot.

The scene opens from within the Lyric Theatre in Tupelo, Mississippi. An abundance of audience members continue to filter in through a set of rickety wood doors that usher in the eager individuals. A promise was made by Steven Regal to capture the excitement of "Born To Be Wild", and as yet another eventful fight card makes its way to "the magnolia state" there is much unrest among the excited fans. The traditional theater style seating looks down to the wrestling ring assembled prominently on the stage which grants an advantageous view to every seat. While there is little by the way of an entranceway, fans revel in the delight of being a part of what ought to be a historical evening of events.

As the final few audience members take their seat, they are soon brought back to a standing position alongside the rest of their fellow spectators. John House and Tony Schiavone walk through an entrance curtain to the east of the stage and immediately jump into the nearby commentary booth. John House does little by the way of showboating though is hesitant to place his headset on. Tony Schiavone clearly anticipated such a response as he wastes little time in placing the set on top of his head. He sits down in his own professional manner and begins to speak.

TS: Good evening fans and welcome to what should be an exciting night of professional wrestling! Tonight, Steven Regal promised we will re experience the chaos of "Born To Be Wild". Will he live up to his word, House?

JH: Let me tell 'ya something, Schiavone! If it's anything like the last time we were in Natchez then things are sure gonna rock the boat! HA HA!

TS: We find ourselves in the northernmost parts of Mississippi tonight as we emanate from Tupelo. We sure have an excellent card of events tonight! I have just received word that Irwin R. Schyster defeated Ron Killings in our dark match and thus retained the Internet championship. To open our show, though, we will first see a 10 man over the top battle royal. Now, this isn't like a standard battle royal. The match will immediately end once the first person is thrown over the top and that individual will be released from Ultra Pro Wrestling! There's sure a lot on the line, so to speak.

JH: Did 'ya spend all night thinkin' of that one, Schiavone? More importantly we've got ourselves a hardcore match tonight! Kaos and Bobby Lashley are gonna lock horns again to see who is the better man.

TS: That's right, House. Our theater setting this evening was specifically selected by President Scott Knudson in aims of protecting the audience. Tonight, Ultra Pro Wrestling will host the dreaded "no rope, barbed wire deathmatch" which is a common fear among deathmatch wrestlers. The hardcore championship will be on the line and falls once again count anywhere within the state of Mississippi. However, with the ropes being removed and replaced with barbed wire it's highly unlikely either man will go very far!

JH: I love it, Schiavone!

TS: Before that, we will see the Tag Team championship be defended as Big Boss Man and Jack Reynolds take on The Road Warriors. Since their victory, The Associates have done everything in their power to keep a hold on their championship belts; they even went as far as to have themselves disqualified and expose a loophole in our championship defense policies. However, there's nowhere for either team to run tonight as the match is a no disqualification bout where anything can happen!

JH: That's right, Schiavone!

TS: Lastly, The World Heavyweight championship will be on the line as The Demon defends against Muhammad Hassan. As an added stipulation, Steven Regal stated that if Muhammad Hassan loses he will be released from Ultra Pro Wrestling. If he wins, however, he will become President of this promotion!

JH: I ain't workin' for no terrorist, Schiavone!

TS: We'll cross that bridge if we come to it, House. Let us now take you to ringside where Tony Chimel is to introduce our opening match up.

Tony Chimel enters the ring to the sound of "Pearl River Rip" filling the Lyric Theatre. Ahmed Johnson storms through the entrance curtain to a rousing ovation from a now standing audience. He steps a few paces in front of him and hops to the ring apron. To a cheer, he enters the ring with a bow through the middle rope. Tony Chimel begins to speak.

TC: Ladies and gentlemen, the following match is an over the top battle royal where the first participant to be eliminated will be released from Ultra Pro Wrestling! Introducing first, he hails from Pearl River, Mississippi! He stands 6'2" tall and weighs in at 305 LBS! He is the "Pearl River Powerhouse"! He is Ahmed Johnson!

The audience unite in an explosive cheer for their home state hero as Ahmed Johnson raises his arms in a pose to the audience in front of him. The sound of his theme song fades and is soon replaced by "Calling All Cars". The audience changes their expressions of glee to those of rage as Big Daddy V and Faarooq walk through the entrance curtain. They approach the ring with a slow saunter, and cautiously enter as Tony Chimel introduces them to the audience.

TC: Introducing next, he hails from Harlem, New York! He stands 6'9" tall and weighs in at 487 LBS! He is Big Daddy V!

TC: Next, he hails from Warner Robbins, Georgia! He stands 6'2" tall and weighs in at 270 LBS! He is Faarooq!

The two representing "Associates" stand tall in the center of the ring as Ahmed Johnson fearlessly remains in the northeastern corner. The sound of their theme song fades and is replaced by an overwhelming exclamation of "Vader time". Big Van Vader walks through the entrance curtain to a well-received cheer from the audience. He extends his arms outward and creates a four fingered "V" with his right hand. Vader enters the ring and walks straight past The Associates. He high fives the hand of his established tag team partner as the two turn to face the duo of Big Daddy V and Faarooq.

TC: Introducing next, he hails from The Rocky Mountains! He stands 6'5" tall and weighs in at 458 LBS! He is Big Van Vader!

The sound of Vader's theme song fades as "I'm All About Cool" fills the Lyric Theatre. Like Vader, Dice Domino walks through the entrance curtain to a mildly positive reception. He takes a moment to briefly flick debris off of his leather jacket while adjusting the tinted black sunglasses perched on his nose. He walks towards the wrestling ring and slides under the bottom rope. Domino brings himself to his feet to a warm favorable cheer while staying away from all fellow wrestlers currently in the ring. Tony Chimel begins to speak.

TC: Introducing next, he hails from "the other side of the tracks"! He stands 6'1" tall and weighs in at 240 LBS! He is Dice Domino!

Dice Domino discards his entrance attire as his theme music fades out of clarity. It is then replaced by Alan Jackson's "Small Town Southern Man". Ezekiel Jackson steps out from behind the entrance curtain in his typical flannel attire. However, he receives little by the way of warmth. Fans boo his presence for his attack on his mild-mannered tag team partner, Festus. This response ultimately doesn't seem to faze him. Ezekiel Jackson enters the ring by running up the steel ring steps and stepping through the middle rope. He does not confront any other competitor, but instead awaits Tony Chimel's introduction.

TC: Introducing next, he represents the 4-H Chapter of Hicksman, Kentucky! He stands 6'2" tall and weighs in at 285 LBS! He is Ezekiel Jackson!

Ezekiel Jackson takes a moment to study his opponents with an intense glare, though his efforts are cut off by the sudden interruption of Flash Funk's entrance music. He receives a very negative reception as he steps through the entrance curtain. Accompanied only by one petite woman on his right arm, he struts towards the wrestling ring and demands that she waits for him while he "takes care of business". Flash Funk jumps on to the ring apron, and steps through the middle rope to the sound of Tony Chimel's introduction.

TC: Introducing next, he hails from Reno, Nevada! He stands 5'11" tall and weighs in at 229 LBS! He is Flash Funk!

The audience continue to boo the man. However, their attention is suddenly diverted as the sound of Mark Henry's self sung theme song fills the theater. They cheer for their beloved superstar as the title character steps through the entrance curtain. Henry stands at the top of the entranceway and intensely stares at Flash Funk. Adjusting the straps of his "Chocolate" branded singlet, he walks towards the wrestling ring with a slow saunter. He enters it by walking up the steel ring steps and stepping through the middle rope. Tony Chimel begins to speak.

TC: Introducing next, he hails from Silsbee, Texas! He stands 6'1" tall and weighs in at 392 LBS! He is "Sexual Chocolate" Mark Henry!

Mark Henry lifts his right arm over his head and receives an overwhelmingly positive response from the audience. Their affection soon turns to rage as the sound of "Perfection" replaces Mark Henry's theme song. Mr. Perfect confidently walks from the backstage area to a negative response from the audience. He ignores their boos and instead throws a sports towel behind his back only to easily catch it in the palm of his right hand. He walks towards the ring as he fixates on his bitter rival, Dice Domino. He enters the wrestling ring with a bow through the middle rope, and Tony Chimel begins to speak.

TC: Introducing next, he hails from Robbinsdale, Minnesota! He stands 6'3" tall and weighs in at 260 LBS! He is Mr. Perfect!

Mr. Perfect launches his ring over the top rope as he attempts to confront Dice Domino. He is unable to do so due to the clustering of competitors in the ring who appear startled as the sound of "Eyes of Righteousness" fills the Lyric Theatre. Reverend D-Von steps from the backstage area with a smile on his face. To the praise and adoration of the audience, he walks towards the wrestling ring and enters by ascending the steel ring steps and bowing through the middle rope. Tony Chimel then introduces him.

TC: And finally, he hails from New York City! He stands 6'1" tall and weighs in at 260 LBS! He is Reverend D-Von!

The bell sounds as Reverend D-Von's theme music fades out of clarity. The audience clearly sway in their differing praise for the superstars in the wrestling ring. The attention appears to clearly be on Ahmed Johnson, though Big Van Vader and Dice Domino both receive audible chants. The ten competitors attempt to circle one another, but struggle due to the almost compact feeling of ring in which they stand. Ezekiel Jackson is the first man to initiate the free for all aggression as he strikes the face of a nearby Mark Henry. Sexual Chocolate staggers backwards as each competitor mimics the actions of Jackson by striking one another in a flurry of offensive chops and close fist punches to the upper body and face.

JH: It's all breakin' down here! HA HA!

TS: It sure is, House! Remember, it is the first competitor who falls over the top rope to the floor below which signals the end of this match!

Each wrestler takes turns to strike one another as they all teeter towards the surrounding ropes. Unhappy with confronting Reverend D-Von, Mr. Perfect storms through the crowd to face Dice Domino who brawls with Faarooq. The duo double team him and shove him into the north facing ropes. Faarooq and Mr. Perfect attempt to control his legs and lift him over the top rope, but their efforts are soon stopped by Ahmed Johnson who clubs both wrestlers with double axe handle smashes to the shoulders.

TS: A save by the hometown hero!

The wrestlers continue their informal dance around the squared circle as each exchange battering blows to one another. Ahmed Johnson once again asserts his dominance in the mix by hoisting Flash Funk and aggressively slamming him into the mat with a spinebuster. The crowd applauds this action as Johnson lowers himself to one knee and strikes the face of the colorful character. He struggles under the forceful blows to his face, and Johnson revels in the crowd's enchanting delight.

TS: The crowd is firmly behind their hometown boy!

Suddenly, Big Daddy V enters the mix with a clubbing blow between Ahmed Johnson's shoulders. Johnson cowers and crawls away from the scene with his right hand firmly on the base of his neck. Faarooq joins his partner and continually stomps on the fallen Johnson. In defense, Big Van Vader confronts The Associates and brings the two men away from his tag team partner. Vader duels with fellow monster Big Daddy V as the two hit each other with a variety of punches and kicks. Reverend D-Von intersects the battle by charging through after being Irish whipped by Mr. Perfect, and is further brought to the mat with a picturesque dropkick by Mr. Perfect. The Associates ignore this action and continue to trade blows with Vader. Pushing him to the ropes, Vader is brought to a submissive position and struggles to regain his footing as he is brought off the mat.

TS: Could this be it, House?

*Ahmed Johnson looks up at his partner though struggles to bring himself to his feet as other superstars rush to the aid of The Associates. Together, they push the large man over the top rope and send him tumbling to the mat below. The ring bell sounds, but is soon interrupted by the sound of "A Real Man's Man". Steven Regal walks through the entrance curtain to a cheer from the audience. He clutches a microphone that he speaks directly into.*

SR: Big Van Vader! You are hereby dismissed from your contract in Ultra Pro Wrestling. This match is now over!

*Suddenly, Tatanka storms through the entrance curtain and assaults Steven Regal from behind. Regal drops the microphone as the Native American pushes and shoves him towards the wrestling ring. Unlike Steven Regal, Tatanka is dressed to compete and forces his opponent into the ring apron. The competitors of the battle royal exit the ring and proceed towards the backstage area. They ignore Vader as he hurls obscenities in their direction, and Tatanka simply stomps over the grounded free agent as he shoves Steven Regal inside the wrestling ring.*

TS: What an ambush from Tatanka!

JH: It's what those Indians do best, Schiavone!

*Tatanka slides under the bottom rope and brings himself to his feet. Looking at the grounded Steven Regal, he shouts at the in-ring referee to ring the bell. Reluctantly, the referee obliges to Tatanka's command and the bell sounds. Tatanka tugs on the left arm of Steven Regal to bring the acting general manager to his feet. However, he is quick to bring him back to the mat as he effortlessly hoists him to his shoulders and drops him to the mat with an "Indian Death Drop" maneuver. Tatanka rolls on top of Steven Regal for a pinfall attempt.*

"The Native American Theme" fills the Lyric Theatre as the audience boos at the actions just passed. Tatanka has his right arm raised in victory as he looks down into the face of Steven Regal. He laughs at the fallen Englishman and spits in his face in an act of blatant defiance. Exiting the ring, Tatanka proceeds to the backstage area with a grin on his face as the in-ring referee assists Steven Regal to his feet. The Real Man's Man refuses any sort of help and stumbles out of the ring. He proceedstowards the backstage area with a look of disappointment riddled across his face.

TS: Unfortunately, ladies and gentlemen, there you have it. The match was set to take place here tonight and Tatanka was victorious in his very one-sided bout with Steven Regal.

JH: It makes me sick, Schiavone! The guy comes up in here and whines and cries 'bout those Europeans stealin' his land, but he just went off and stole the match! Where does he get off?

TS: I don't know about that one, House. Let us move right on as up next the Tag Team championship is up for grabs! Big Boss Man and Jack Reynolds will defend against The Road Warriors in a no disqualification match!

"Calling All Cars" erupts over the sound system as the tag team champions step through the entrance curtain. The audience continues their audible boo from Tatanka's victory as Big Boss Man yells a clear "shut up" across the stage. Jack Reynolds grins in delight as he reaches into his postal service sack and carelessly throws an abundance of envelopes and other letter mail towards the audience. Grabbing an article in mid air, Reynolds runs in between his legs in a wiping fashion as he flashes two fingers towards the hostile audience in front of him. Discarding the item, he and Boss Man enter the wrestling ring and remove the championship belts from around their waists. They present the objects to the crowd as Tony Chimel introduces them.

TC: The following match is a no disqualification match scheduled for one fall and it is for the Ultra Pro Wrestling Tag Team championship! Introducing first, they weigh in at a total combined weight of 535 LBS! They are the defending UPW Tag Team champions! They are Big Boss Man and Jack Reynolds!

The team surrender the championship belts to the referee as "What a rush!" screams over the sound system. The Road Warriors step through the entrance curtain to a deafening cheer from the audience. They nod at the positive reception and remove their shoulder pads in synchronization with one another. The duo march towards the wrestling ring and enter it by ascending the steel ring steps and stepping through the middle rope. They approach the center of the ring where Big Boss Man and Jack Reynolds stand, and Tony Chimel introduces the oncoming challengers.

TC: Introducing next, they hail from Chicago, Illinois! They weigh in at a total combined weight of 360 LBS! They are Road Warrior Animal and Road Warrior Hawk; The Road Warriors!
Animal and Hawk whisper amongst themselves and high five as Hawk exits to the ring apron. Road Warrior Animal turns around to confront Jack Reynolds who approaches the center of the ring. The bell sounds as Tony Chimel flees from the scene, and the two proverbially lock horns in a tie up. The two jockey for position, but it is Animal who showcases his impressive strength and forces him into the southeastern corner near his tag team partner. Animal begins to furiously stomp into the midsection of Reynolds. He falls in a heap as the united Road Warriors shout obscenities in his direction. The referee struggles to break the competitors. However, he is unable to do so due to the no disqualification stipulation. Animal tags in Hawk and the face painted wrestlers trade places.

TS: Could we be on the verge of seeing new tag champions tonight, House?

Hawk looks at a grounded Jack Reynolds and laughs in his face. The villainous postman struggles to regain his composure as his opponent brings him to his feet. Reynolds is sent running into the western ropes with an Irish whip, and upon returning is brought to the mat with a shouldblock from Hawk. He immediately drops down to his knees and covers Jack Reynolds for a pinfall attempt.

The short-lived pinfall attempt ends in a one count. Jack Reynolds rolls himself away from Road Warrior Hawk, but is quickly pursued by the more dominant individual. Reynolds attempts to reach his partner though is unsuccessful in doing so as Hawk drags the lighter man away by the ankle and delivers an elbow drop into his lower back. Jack Reynolds writhes in pain as Big Boss Man shouts various remarks from the ring apron. The member of law enforcement attempts to enter the ring. However, he is restrained by the referee which allows a quick witted Animal to hop through the middle rope and double team the grounded Reynolds with varied offensive stomps to the shoulders and lower back.

TS: The Road Warriors are dominating here tonight, House!

Big Boss Man exits back on to the ring apron which forces Road Warrior Animal to quickly react by exiting as well. The referee turns to face the battle, and fails to notice any signs of unfair competition. Road Warrior Hawk brings a staggering Jack Reynolds to his feet, but quickly grounds him once again as he rotates him onto his shoulders with a swinging neckbreaker. Hawk once again attempts a pinfall by hooking the near leg.

Jack Reynolds throws his right arm towards the ceiling to break the pinfall attempt. Road Warrior Hawk brings himself to his feet and quickly tags out to his partner, Animal. He quickly enters the ring and charges towards the fallen mailman; jumping into an elbow drop which connects with the sternum. Animal effortlessly rolls on top of Reynolds and connects with a series of closed fist strikes to the face that Big Boss Man thoroughly protests outside the ring. Disregarding the referee's commands, Boss Man enters the ring and forcibly removes Animal with a smashing strike to the back of the neck. Road Warrior Animal rushes to the aid of his partner which engages Boss Man in a two versus one situation. He confidently handles the situation while trading blows with the opposing team members, though is brought to his back as the Road Warriors execute a double military press drop. The crowd cheer on as Road Warrior Hawk exits the wrestling ring.

TS: The Road Warriors are showing great form! There appears to be no escape for Jack Reynolds!

Road Warrior Hawk climbs to the top rope to the eager reception from the audience watching on. Animal scoops up the stunned Jack Reynolds and props him into a seated position on his shoulders. He is unable to defend himself as Animal slowly approaches an airborne Hawk who drives him to the mat with a furious clothesline known as the "Doomsday Device". The crowd erupt in cheer as Animal pins the dazed Jack Reynolds.

Suddenly, the imminent three count is interrupted by the sound of "Calling All Cars". Road Warrior Animal jumps to his feet as he and Hawk look over the eastern ropes to see Big Daddy V and Faarooq approaching the wrestling ring. They both come equipped with steel folding chairs and look towards the hostile Road Warriors. Unbeknown to them, Big Boss Man slowly rises to his feet and removes a steel baton from his utility belt. He charges towards the distracted Road Warriors and club both of them in the back of their heads. The duo carelessly crash to the mat below as Big Daddy V and Faarooq enter the wrestling ring. To a swarm of hatred from the audience, the threesome unite in their foreign object use and continually batter the fallen Road Warriors. Jack Reynolds slowly brings himself to his feet and supports himself using the western top rope. He looks to the destruction of his opponents with a grin as the referee grabs his head in confusion. Big Daddy V calls off the attack, though hoists Road Warrior Animal onto his shoulders and drives him into the ring with a vicious Ghetto Drop. Jack Reynolds covers Animal for a pinfall attempt.

TC: Here are your winners and still Ultra Pro Wrestling Tag Team champions! Big Boss Man and Jack Reynolds!

The Associates stand tall in the ring as the referee surrenders the championship belts to their rightful owners. "Calling All Cars" once again sounds throughout the theater and the four dominant wrestlers stand tall; each wielding their respective foreign object and title belt. They exit the ring and trail behind Big Daddy V as they proceed towards the backstage area. The sound of their theme music fades as The Road Warriors are supported by the referee towards the back. Panning to the commentary area, Tony Schiavone begins to speak.

TS: There you have it, folks! The Associates have once again exposed a loophole in Ultra Pro Wrestling's championship defense requirements and are still holding the gold. Your thoughts, House?

JH: I can't stand the guys, Schiavone! Sometimes a man just wants to see a good fair fight, and that's what we're about to see next as we go hardcore! HA HA!

TS: That's right, House! I'm looking out to the ring now and see our crew quickly stripping the ropes and replacing it with piercing barbed wire. How can people endure such brutality?

JH: I dunno, Schiavone! It sure makes for good watchin' though!

TS: Let us take you ringside for the upcoming bout.

As the ring crew finishes its final preparations on the wrestling ring, the scene fixates itself on the ultra sharp barbed wire that is arranged in three rows similar to that of traditional ring ropes. It hangs in a clustered fashion and doesn't leave much by the way of gaps. The ring crew exit the ring by sliding under the bottom wire strand which leaves Tony Chimel standing on the outside of the ring. The sound of "Unstoppable" fills the Lyric Theatre as the audience rise to their feet in cheer. Bobby Lashley storms through the entrance curtain wearing mixed martial arts gloves. He takes a moment to pose for the audience by crossing his arms across his chest and extending them diagonally outwards. Lashley slowly walks towards the wrestling ring and takes a moment to study the barbed wire. He initially hesitates, but calmly slides under the bottom rope without making any form of contact. Tony Chimel begins his introduction as Bobby Lashley brings himself to his feet.

TC: Ladies and gentlemen, the following match is a no rope barbed wire match and it is for the Ultra Pro Wrestling Hardcore championship! It is scheduled for one fall with pinfalls or submissions counting anywhere within the state of Mississippi! Introducing first, he is fighting out of Denver, Colorado! He stands 6'1" tall and weighs in at 252 LBS! He is Bobby Lashley!

Bobby Lashley once again extends his arms for the crowd as he approaches the razor sharp barbed wire. He cautiously backs away from the ropes as the sound of his theme music fades. He begins hopping in a warm-up fashion, and is accompanied by the sound of "Psycho Circus" by Kiss. Kaos walks through the entrance curtain to a heavy boo from the audience that he simply shrugs off. He lights up with delight as he approaches the ring and studies the barbed wire surrounding it. Reaching up, he cuts his index finger on an eastern strand which draws a trickle of blood. The stream runs down his hand which causes him to light up with glee. Sliding under the rope, Kaos brings himself to his feet and towers over the much shorter Bobby Lashley. Tony Chimel begins to speak.

TC: Introducing next, he hails from "Parts Unknown"! He stands 6'8" tall and weighs in at 300 LBS! He is Kaos!

JH: This is it, Schiavone! This is what it's all about! Hardcore, hardcore, hardcore! HA HA!

*Kaos stops his own driving momentum before his flesh meets the wire and charges towards a stationary Bobby Lashley. He is, however, met with an amateur style take down as Bobby Lashley shoots for Kaos' large left leg and sweeps him to the mat below. Bobby Lashley retains his grasp on Kaos' leg and drives it into the mat with an intense shove. The impact causes Kaos to roll in pain. However, while grasping his knee he emits a roar of laughter as Bobby Lashley stands tall above his fallen opponent.*

TS: How can Kaos take that kind of abuse, House?

*Bobby Lashley lowers himself into a mounted position on his opponent, though before connecting with a series of right hands he is met with a left hook from the grounded Kaos. Lashley falls off of Kaos and grabs the right side of his head in agony. Kaos sits tall and brings himself to his feet. Approaching a crawling Lashley, Kaos sends several stiff kicks into his rib area which push the martial artist closer to the barbed wire ropes. As the duo approach the sharp wire, Bobby Lashley brings himself to a lowered position in the mat and hooks the ankle of Kaos. Twisting it, Kaos is sent hopping, but is unable to gain his balance and tumbles chest first into the barbed wire. The audience erupt in cheer as the barbs delve deeply into his flesh and pierce it. Kaos' chest turns a bright crimson red as blood profusely pours down his wrestling attire, and Bobby Lashley brings himself to his feet in celebration.*

TS: Kaos is first to bleed!

JH: More, more, more!

*Kaos' legs shake as he erupts into a deep convulsion. Ripping himself from the barbed wire, his skin tangles with each tug until finally freed with a volcanic-like eruption of blood. He turns to face his opponent. However, upon turning he flashes a grin of delight and charges towards the defensive Bobby Lashley. Kaos attempts to tie up with Lashley, though the quick witted superstar sprawls to his side and executes a side suplex to the mat below. Kaos' body is driven deep into the canvas as Bobby Lashley hooks his nearby left leg for a pinfall attempt.*

*The much larger Kaos frees himself from the predicament by simply rolling away from the aggressor. Bobby Lashley brings himself to his feet and drags Kaos to his knees. Lashley attempts to hook the waistline of Kaos, but an attempt to bring him over his shoulder sees both Lashley and Kaos crashing to the mat below. Kaos rests comfortably on the chest of Bobby Lashley and begins to pummel his face with a series of punches. The martial artist is restricted into a defensive blocking stance, but crumbles under the weight of Kaos' intense blows. He attempts to divert the blunt of Kaos' strikes until finally giving away his block and receiving several strikes to the forehead region. Each closed fist punch to the forehead opens a soft wound which causes Bobby Lashley to bleed a torrent of bodily matter. He falls into a deep stupor and Kaos responds with a pinfall attempt.*

2.

Bobby Lashley miraculously manages to kick out by raising his left shoulder to the ceiling. This action infuriates Kaos. The aggressor brings himself to his feet and stomps around the wrestling ring; pursing the referee for his lack of a three count. While distracted, Bobby Lashley manages to slowly bring himself to his feet. He reaches towards Kaos with a strong jab, but is caught and whipped towards the western barbed wire ropes. Bobby Lashley spins in his track and falls towards the mat to protect himself from the wire. However, upon returning to his feet he is met with a strong big boot to the face from Kaos which sends the duo tumbling into the barbed wire. Bobby Lashley's back deeply penetrates the barbed wire which causes a flow of blood to trickle down his wire embedded body. Lashley attempts to free himself from the situation, but cries out in agony as the wire separates from his skin. Kaos, easily removing his already torn chest from the barbed wire ropes, backs himself towards the center of the ring and watches with joy as his opponent suffers horrendously.

TS: Kaos is laughing at Bobby Lashley! He is sick, House!

Kaos struts towards Bobby Lashley who continues his struggle in wired confinement. Unable to move, Bobby Lashley lowers his head as Kaos chops him with a series of knife-edged strikes to the chest. The action forces the already deeply embedded barbed wire further into his flesh and immobilizes him. Kaos emits a sinister laugh as he reaches towards the trapezius muscles of Lashley. He maliciously yanks Lashley out of the wire and into a bent position at his waist. Bringing Lashley onto his shoulders, Kaos charges and powerbombs Bobby Lashley into the top barbed wire rope. The high velocity slam causes each strand of wire to rip from its supporting ring posts, and causes Lashley to fall head first onto the stage outside the wrestling ring.

JH Someone call 911!

Kaos brings his arms over his head in suggested victory and parades around the ring as if already crowned a champion. The audience roars on in their disapproval for the man, though their response causes Kaos to walk towards the exposed western side of the wrestling ring. He looks down at Bobby Lashley and revels in his own malicious happiness. Lashley lies motionless on the stage as his body remains entangled in three strands of barbed wire. Each former rope restraints envelope him and expose various bloody wounds from head to toe. Pointing down to his victim, Kaos jumps from the ring apron into the pile of waste and wire and dives an elbow drop into Lashley's sternum. Upon collision, Kaos' elbow tears and bleeds in unison with his already blood covered chest. Laughing, Kaos attempts a pinfall by leaning back into the pile of barbed wire.

2.

Reaching down into his warrior-like soul, Bobby Lashley kicks out of the pinfall attempt by Kaos. His escape forces Kaos into a frenzy. He brings himself to his feet and stomps around the stage; yelling at the referee all the while. Pushing the referee aside, Kaos reaches down to grab the tangled Bobby Lashley and forces him to his feet. The man wraps his hand around the throat of Lashley and clenches it in a choke. This action drives an exposed barb into Lashley's prominent throat region. The process quickly drains the life out of Bobby Lashley who coughs and splutters fragments of blood in between the cracks of Kaos' bloodied fingers. Kaos smiles and looks out to the audience. He points in a seemingly random direction and begins to drag Lashley across the stage in a choke hold.

TS: Just what is Kaos going to do here, House?

The competitors reach the edge of the stage as fans shout their dismay for Kaos. He simply shakes his head in disagreement and points to the floor below. Kaos drives Bobby Lashley into his waist and hoists him upside down. The two then plummet from the stage on towards the exposed theater floor. The two fall in Kaos' "Piledriver From Hell" and lodge themselves deeply into the cold, hard ground. Renegade fans attempt to get closer to Kaos in anger. However, their attempts to reach the competitors are thwarted by security personnel who create a block. The referee jumps closer to the two as Kaos presses both of Bobby Lashley's legs into his shoulders. The referee counts a pinfall attempt.

"Psycho Circus" by Kiss fills the Lyric Theatre as hostile fans throw objects towards the newly crowned champion. The referee awards Kaos with the championship belt which the man intensely stares into. He smiles softly and disappears through a nearby steel door leading to the outside of the theater. Medical staff and ring crew quickly rush and tend to a battered Bobby Lashley as the scene pans towards the commentary area.

TS: I cannot believe what we just witnessed, House! Kaos has just been crowned hardcore champion after an absolutely atrocious assault!

JH: That's the name of the game, Schiavone! You're gonna learn to love it 'cos Kaos is now the champion! HA HA!

TS: As the ring crew prepare the ring for our main event, let us now show you a recorded video interview with our World Heavyweight champion!

The scene flickers into the backstage area. The Demon sits quietly in a corner as he makes a few physical preparations prior to his main event bout. Not only is his championship belt on the line, but the future of the promotion in its entirety rests on his shoulders. Steven Regal has entrusted the security of Ultra Pro Wrestling to its champion and The Demon has not been one to disappoint thus far. Already holding a pinfall victory over Muhammad Hassan, it seems that he has the key to successful victory over the number one contender and possible President of the promotion. The Demon reaches towards a duffel bag and removes a roll of black sports tape. He begins to speak while taping his wrists in a circular motion.

TD: Oh yeah? Well alright!

The Demon continues with a grin.

TD: Tonight You Belong To Me! I must be Dreamin', Muhammad, because it seems that you're challenging me for both my championship belt and Presidency of this company? I have been told to beat you and that is something I know I can do; something I know my Creatures of the Night believe I can do! I will not disappoint them. The Oath as it stands is that I will defeat you and force you into exile. Never again will you be seen in Ultra Pro Wrestling! What does the future have in store for me after that? It's Cold Gin time again!

The Demon discards his sports tape and rises from his seated position. The scene fades to black as he confidently marches past the camera lens' vantage point.

The scene reappears on a cleaned and repaired wrestling ring. Tony Chimel stands prominently in the center as he begins his introductions.

TC: Ladies and gentlemen, the following bout is scheduled for one fall and it is for the Ultra Pro Wrestling World Heavyweight Championship! The future of the promotion rests in the hands of one of the two competitors and will forever alter the landscape of UPW!

The Shahadah looms heavily over the Lyric Theater as the fans rise to their feet in dismay. Muhammad Hassan walks through the entrance curtain to an overwhelming boo from the audience. He scoffs at their lack of respect and proceeds to walk down the short entranceway. He enters the ring by ascending the steel ring steps and bowing through the middle rope, and lowers himself to his knees while opening his palms to the sky in praise. Hassan removes the outer thawb and keffiyeh coverings to reveal his usual wrestling attire of black biker shorts accented in gold print and similarly matched wrestling boots. He turns to face Tony Chimel as he begins the introduction.

TC: Introducing first, he is the challenger! A victory tonight will promote him to President of Ultra Pro Wrestling and will award him with the World Heavyweight Championship! He hails from Detroit, Michigan! He stands 6'2" tall and weighs in at 245 LBS! He is Muhammad Hassan!

The audience continue their deafening roar of negativity as Muhammad Hassan nods in self appreciation. The sound of his theme music fades and is replaced by "God of Thunder" by Kiss. The Demon steps through the entrance curtain to a thunderous ovation from a standing audience. He gazes into their united eyes with a positive starve, and continues his approach towards the wrestling ring. He pauses for a moment to remove his spiked cape and expose the heavyweight championship belt adorning his waistline. The Demon enters the wrestling ring by sliding under the bottom rope with a razz. He brings himself to his feet and stands tall over Muhammad Hassan in the center of the ring.

TC: Introducing next, he is the defending World Heavyweight Champion! A victory for him tonight will see Muhammad Hassan be released from Ultra Pro Wrestling! He hails from Olympus! He stands 6'7" tall and weighs in at 275 LBS! He is The Demon!

The Demon surrenders his championship belt to the referee who presents it to the audience. The bell sounds which cues Tony Chimel's exit from the ring. The two competitors circle one another in the center of the ring; neither throwing any initial attacks.

JH: This is it, Schiavone! This is what it's all about!

TS: You're right about that, House! Who will be victorious here tonight?

Muhammad Hassan is first to strike in the competition as he rams The Demon with an explosive punch to the face. The impact of the blow leaves specks of white face paint on the knuckles of Hassan, and the sight of this infuriates him. Hassan quickly responds with a series of quicker and more impacting blows which force The Demon into the northwestern ring corner. Continuing his strikes, Hassan switches to a variety of stomps to the midsection. However, he is met with a leg take down from The Demon which forces Hassan to somersault towards the center of the ring. He lies motionless in this position and The Demon capitalizes by bouncing off the ropes and jumping into a legdrop.

Unfortunately, Hassan rolls away from the descent and The Demon crashes into nothing but ring canvas.

TS: Both competitors are so evenly matched, House!

The Demon writhes in pain as he rubs the back of his armor clad legs. He attempts to bring himself to his feet, though is met by a chop block from a grounded Muhammad Hassan. Hassan then cunningly jumps on the back of The Demon and attempts to apply his signature camel clutch. His effort is in vain as The Demon rises to his feet with Hassan hanging on for dear life. The Demon manages to catch Hassan with a few elbow strikes which force his opponent to drop into a side slam as delivered by the aggressor. The Demon then quickly makes a pinfall attempt.

Muhammad Hassan kicks out of the pinfall and demands that The Demon be restrained. The referee willingly obliges to his command and pushes The Demon to the southwestern ring corner. This process generates a negative reaction from the audience and allows Muhammad Hassan a chance to rise to his feet. Without a second thought, Hassan charges towards The Demon who is still occupied by the referee and smacks him across the right cheek. The referee narrowly dodges the collision and backs away from the scene. However, The Demon was not so lucky and retaliates with a tie up. He brings Muhammad Hassan under his arm and attempts to lower him into a DDT. Suddenly, his swinging motion is reversed and The Demon is driven into the canvas with a reverse STO by Muhammad Hassan. The fans erupt in rage as Hassan quickly crawls onto a stunned Demon in the center of the ring and applies his signature camel clutch.

JH: No, no, no! Get out of it, Demon! C'mon!

TS: Muhammad Hassan has applied the camel clutch? Could we be seeing the future here?

The Demon jolts and attempts to pull himself to the rope. However, each crawling pace forces a passionate Muhammad Hassan to lock in his signature hold with greater force. With nowhere to run, The Demon submits to Muhammad Hassan.

JH: NO!

TC: Here is your winner and new World Heavyweight Champion, President Muhammad Hassan!

The Shahadah announces its victor to the Lyric Theater as Muhammad Hassan is awarded his championship belt by the referee. The Demon flees to the backstage area as Hassan falls to his knees while tightly clutching the object in his arms. He discards the belt to the ring canvas below and motions for a microphone from Tony Chimel. He immediately surrenders the item into the palm of Hassan. As the sound of his theme music fades, he begins to speak.

MH: My name is Muhammad Hassan and I am an Arab-American!

The booing audience do not yield their tirade of hatred for the man as Muhammad Hassan continues.

MH: I have had just about enough of all of your prejudice! You will respect me and honor me as your new heavyweight champion of the world! Most importantly, you will respect my position here in Ultra Pro Wrestling! My brothers in faith will no longer be hiding in the shadows. We will come forth and unite through our correct religious beliefs. Each and every one of you have spat on people like me; people who act on the teachings of Allah and His Prophet (pbuh)! How does it feel when the tables are turned, huh? How does it feel when you people are the ones being looked down on? I have waited for so long to say this and as President of Ultra Pro Wrestling I may now declare..

Muhammad Hassan stalls in the spews of hatred being flung his way. He continues despite the ever growing sound of the crowd's negative roar.

MH: I declare that Ultra Pro Wrestling is no more! All of the arrogant men in the audience will return to work and all of the defiant whores will return to humble servitude! Your petty little wrestling show is a distraction from Allah who is Wise and True! Now you will never see another! Get out! Get out!

Muhammad Hassan carelessly abandons his championship belt and exits the ring. He proceeds up the entranceway at a relaxing pace and disappears into the backstage area as the scene fades to black.
